

Monitoring and Evaluation as Learning Disciplines for Peacebuilding

12 – 16 July 2010

Deadline for application: Wednesday 23 June 2010

Early bird deadline: Tuesday 15 June 2010

Trainer: Mark Rogers
Zafarullah Rahiman Hassim

Participants familiar with the theory and practice of peacebuilding, but less so with monitoring and evaluation, will find this introductory course helpful in acquiring tools for analysis, reflection and learning. Oriented toward utilization-focused evaluation and working with qualitative data, this course uses experiential learning activities and practical exercises to build skills and gain experience.

Course fee:

International organizations and institutions: $375

National organizations and institutions: $185

Early Bird rate (by 28 May): discount of $100.00

Economic Dimensions of Peacebuilding Specialised Course with field placement

12 – 21 July, 2010

Deadline for application: Wednesday 23 June 2010

Early bird deadline: Tuesday 15 June 2010

Trainers: Canan Gunduz, Nawaz Mohamed and Diana Klein

This course explores the different economic causes and impacts of conflict familiarizing participants with international debates and practice in this area. Participants will learn about conflict-sensitive approaches to economic development as well as how to identify different types of economic actors and their capacities for contributing to peace and conflict. Click here for a more detailed description.

Course fee:

International organizations and institutions: $600

National organizations and institutions: $300

Early Bird rate (by 15 June): discount of $100.00